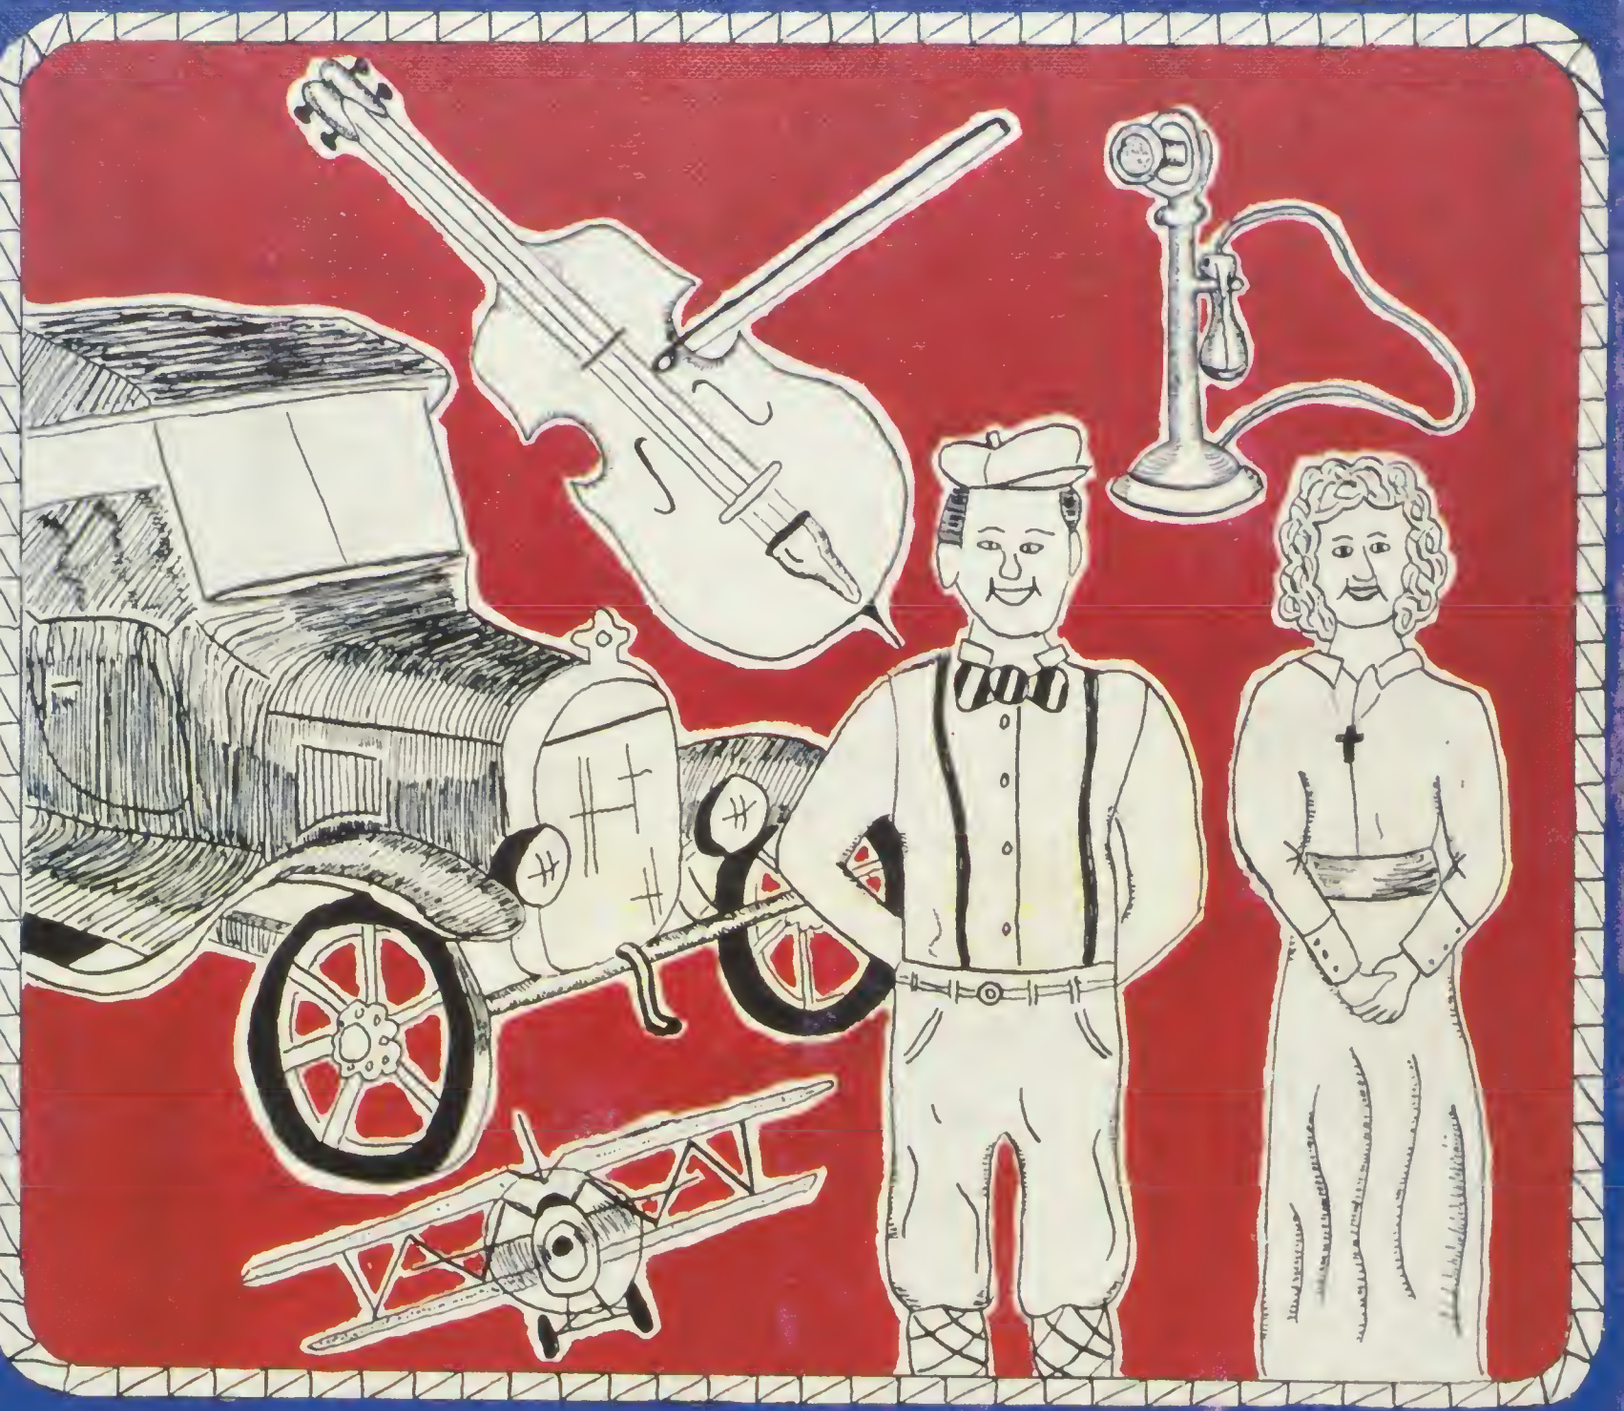
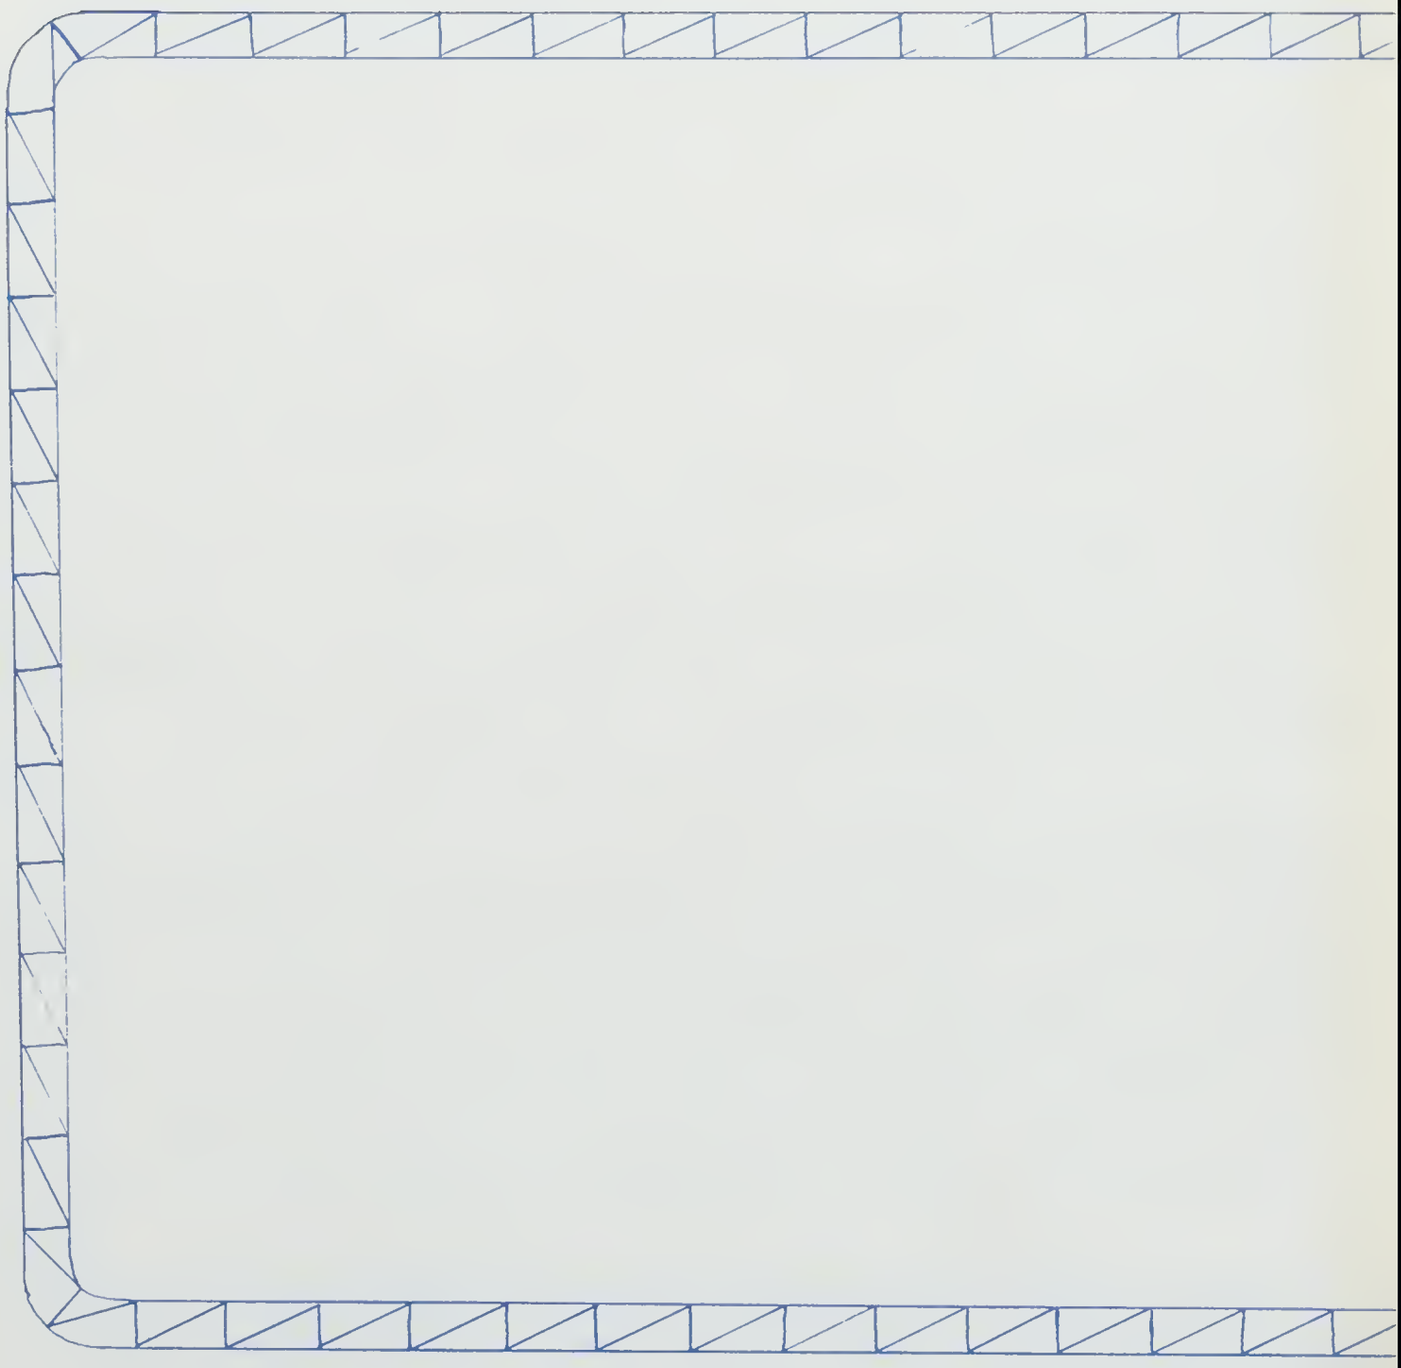
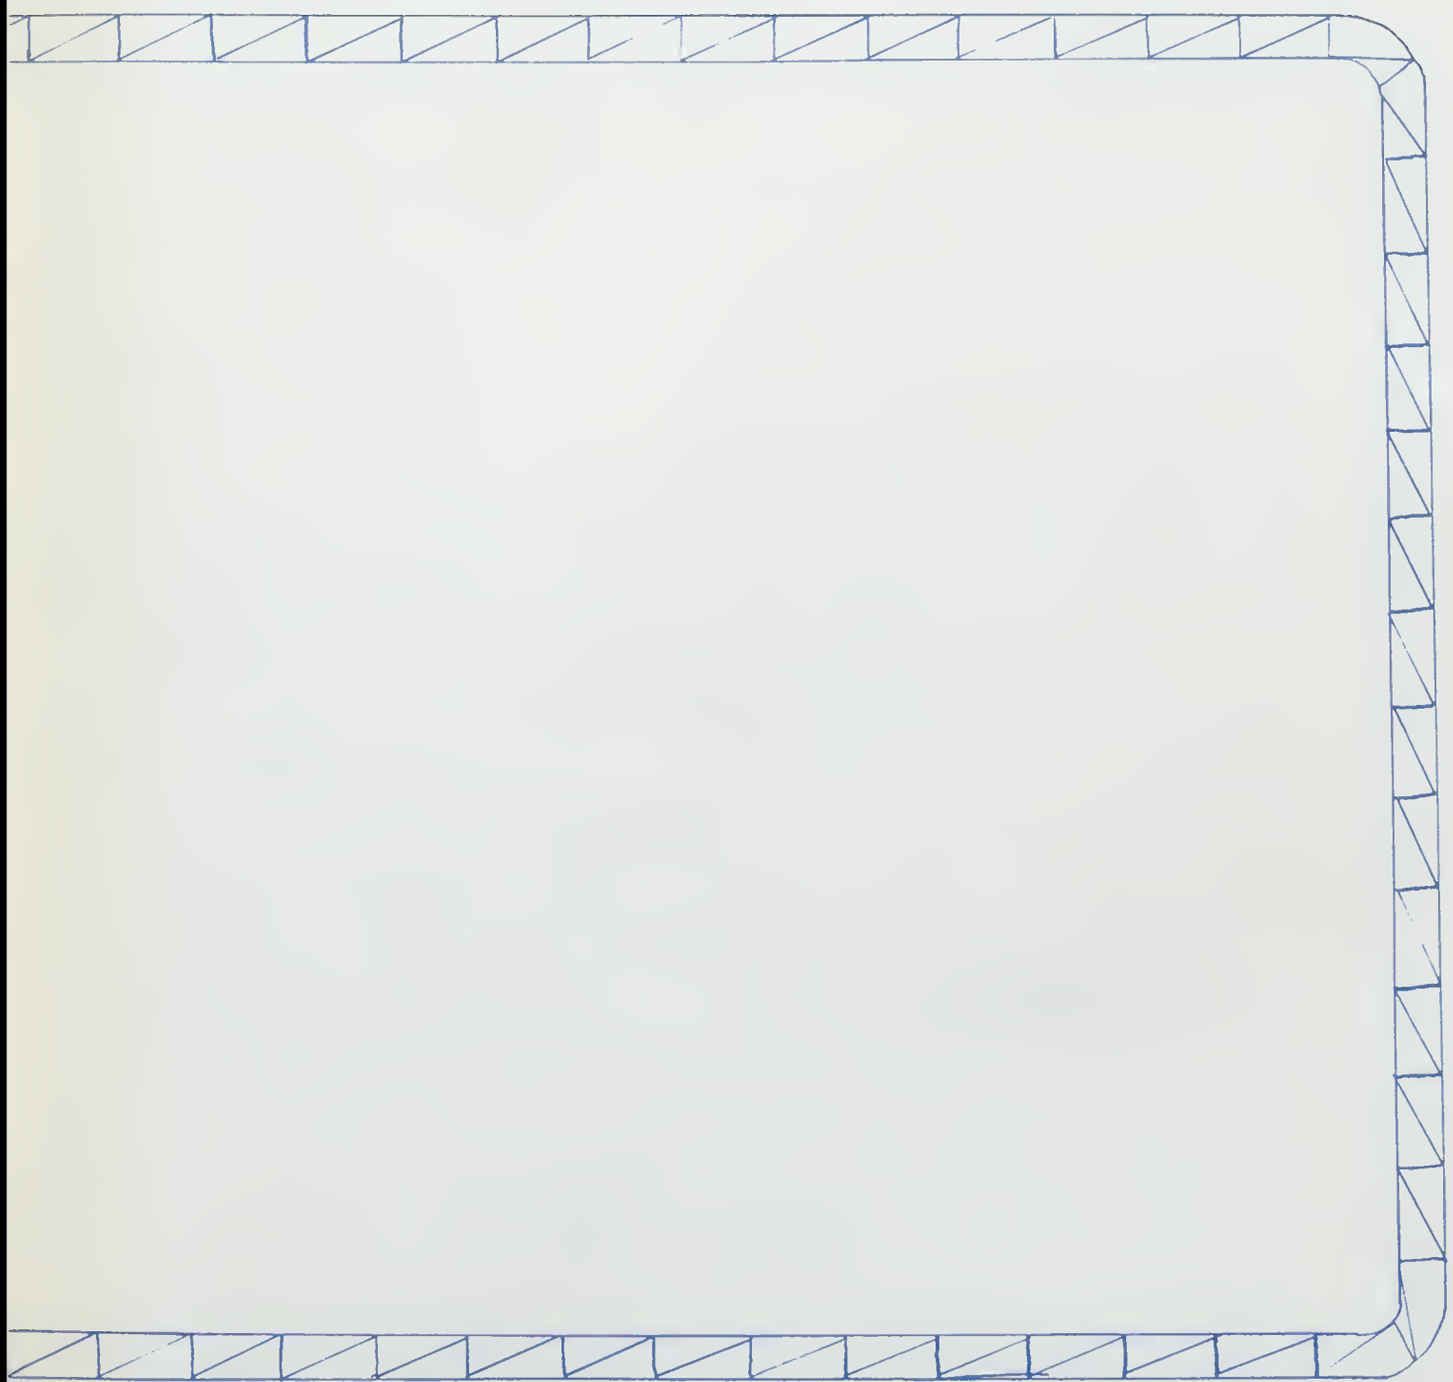
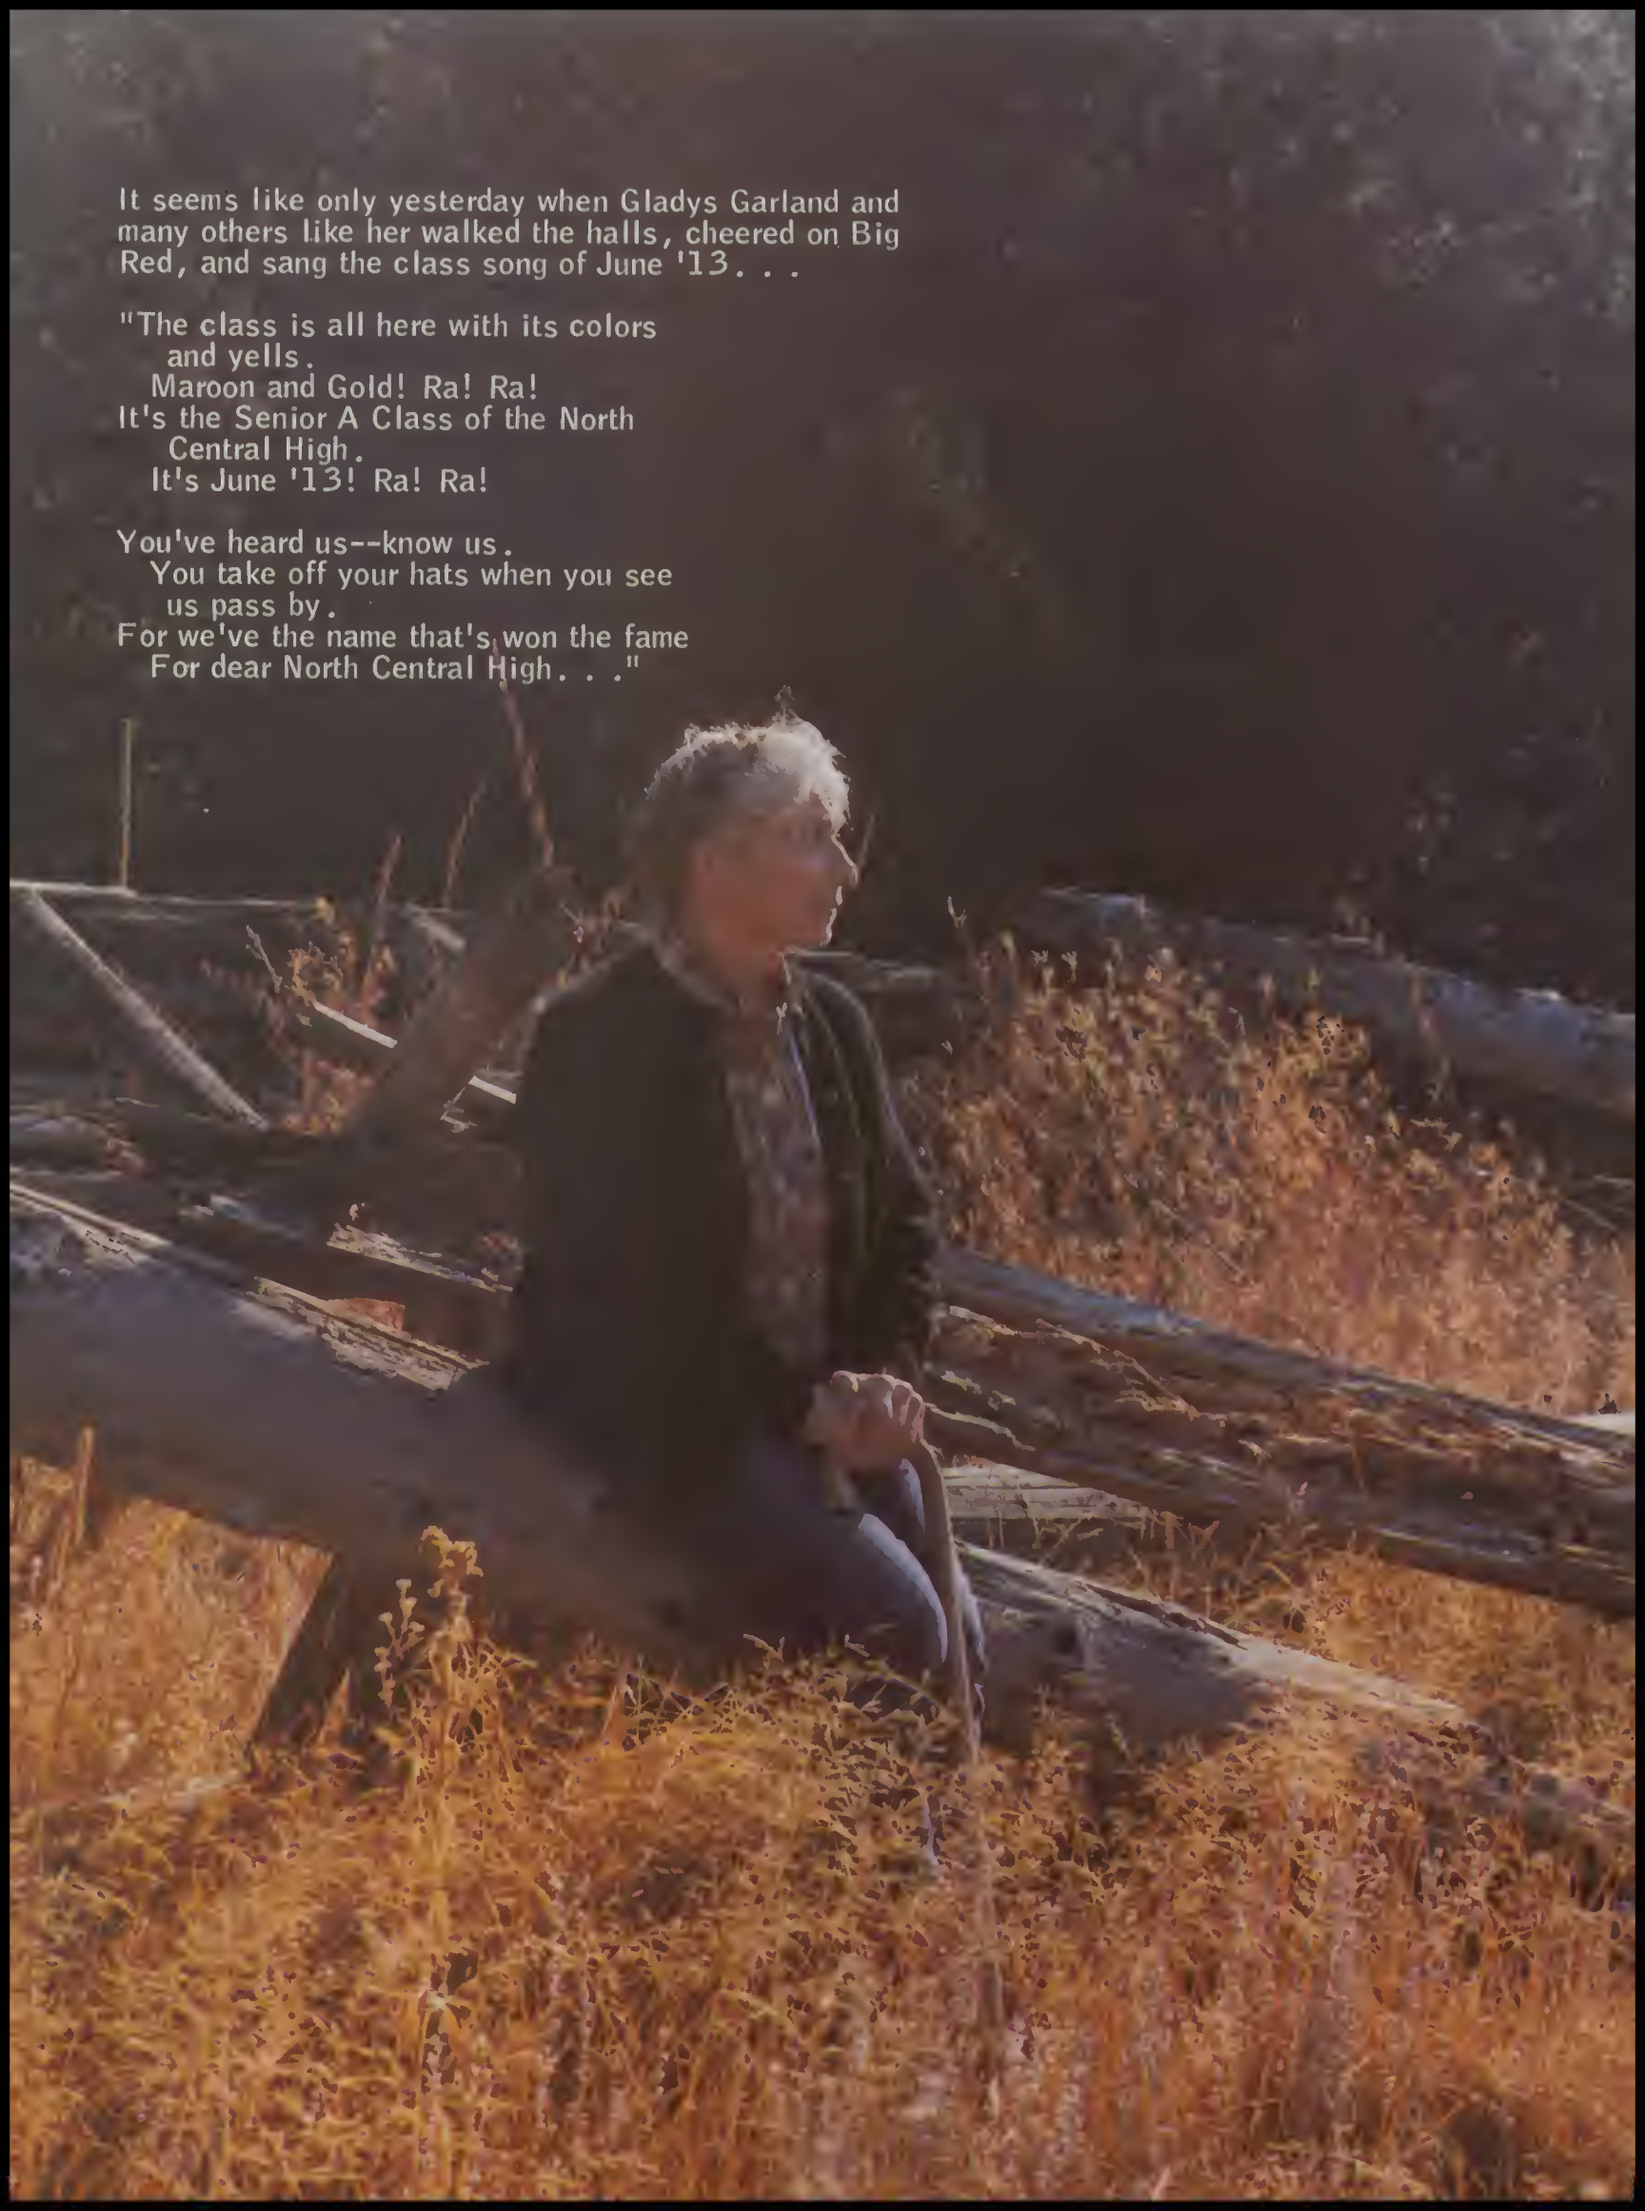
TAMARACK



1976







It seems like only yesterday when Gladys Garland and many others like her walked the halls, cheered on Big Red, and sang the class song of June '13. . .

"The class is all here with its colors and yells.
Maroon and Gold! Ra! Ra!
It's the Senior A Class of the North Central High.
It's June '13! Ra! Ra!

You've heard us--know us.
You take off your hats when you see us pass by.
For we've the name that's won the fame
For dear North Central High. . ."

A Tasty Cafeteria Lunch. . . 10 ¢

"Four years have we spent
'neath the Red and the Black;
Let's give 'em a Cheer! Ra! Ra!"

They entered North Central as freshmen. The student body consisted of 197 boys and 291 girls; 500 students were expected by the semester. Although the student body was small, Mr. Hargraves, the principal, noted that a definite spirit of loyalty to the school had been shown by students and faculty since the building's opening in the Fall of 1908.

When school opened, there were 28 rooms finished with 52 yet to be completed. Mr. Held, the architect, admitted with pride that Spokane would have the finest high school in the West. And oh, what a school it was!

"We have a fine standing,
We've made a big hit
With our teachers dear! Ha! Ha!"

The classes offered varied little with those of today. There were scientific, classical, manual arts, commercial, and literary courses of study.

In February 1909 the cafeteria opened. Clam chowder, ham or peanut butter sandwiches, pies, fruits, milk, coffee, and hot chocolate were offered. A good menu was promised; any three articles of one's choice sold for 10 cents.

At a 1909 convocation, a speaker proclaimed that "the first thing to make a person go down and out was smoking cigarettes and working slot machines."

In the athletics' department, baseball, basketball for both boys and girls, football and track were offered. As NC was made up of freshmen only, the teams were rather inexperienced but enthused.

South Central, Lewis and Clark as we know it today, burned down in 1910. As a result, South Central students were transferred to NC. During that period, the two schools joined forces as "The Spokane High School." Both NC and SC temporarily abandoned their own school colors and took on the Blue and White.

In the Spring of 1912, South Central students returned to their home across the river, the new Lewis and Clark High School. Thus, the first graduating class of North Central proudly spent its senior year, 1913, under dear old Red and Black!

"Just watch us--ask us--
We'll show you all how
You can make yourselves seen.
Just follow the rule
That's set for the school
By the Class of June '13. . ."

Since 1908 the Voices of Students

Have Echoed Through the NC Halls

"At last we must leave,
Ne'er again to return.
Farewell, North Central High!
Forever your walls will re-echo the sound
Of that grand immortal cry
Of '13 --- Ra! Ra!"

And so it was. During the course of its 68 years, thousands of students have walked through the hallways of NC. Though the majority lose touch with their alma mater, the spirit and pride that are our school have lived on.

Dress of Yesterday Reflects Formal Style

In our earlier days, student life was governed by a more rigid set of rules. For example, dress codes were strictly observed. Young ladies of high standing would never be found wearing anything less than a dress of ankle length; slacks were exclusively for the young men.

For a mere $1.75 a young lady could purchase a "heavy Galatia middy blouse . . . with silk lacings in front, high lacings at sides, French cuffs, long sleeves and pocket."

A discerning young man could buy a dashing "new two and three button roll lapel jacket, goodfitting trousers, and an athletic vest in gray, blue, tan and brown tones and in plaids, stripes or broken checks"-- an amazing buy at just $12.50.

For the "society buds," hightop, English walking shoes in patent or gunmetal with white Neolin soles" cost only five dollars.

"Styles of the times in a variety of shapes and leather choices" were featured in the men's Florsheim shoes, prices ranging from five to seven dollars.

Today's Look Is

The look of today is one of variety, almost anything goes. Denim is IN for casual wear or dress. Guys and gals top their jeans with an assortment of T shirts, fitted sweaters, and Indian gauze. When the girls shed their jeans for a more dressy look, knee to midi length A-line skirts or dresses are fashionable. However, any length may be seen.

Gone are the muted pastels for the guys; "mod" citrus and jewel-toned leisure suits replaced the dulled browns, blues, and grays. Open-neck floral print shirts complete the leisure look.

Platforms, even in tennis shoes, wedgies and negative heels rate high in foot fashions. Shoe prices range from 15 to 35 dollars. To go along with the variety of shoes, one finds an assortment of wild socks: argyles, toe socks, stripes and racing checks.

"Must" accessories for the today look include puka shell necklaces and a ring for every finger. Hot combs and curling irons give today's teen that natural look.

Casual and Comfortable

Takin' It Easy in the Good Old Days

"In the good old days, "leisure activities included picnics and ice skating at Liberty Lake, movies, vaudeville, and road shows. Sleigh rides, hanging out at the fire station, parades for every holiday, fairs and circus shows were also popular.

A fun-filled day at Natatorium Park was a big event. The jack rabbit, the tunnel of love, and the carousel, which arrived in 1909, were popular rides. In the refreshment line, a nickel would buy orangeade or soda pop while a dime would get you an ice cream cone.

Street cars would get you where you wanted to go for a nickel. Night life ended at midnight when the "owl trolley" made the last round of the evening. If you missed the "owl," it was a long walk home. No matter what the time of day, harassing trolley conductors seemed to be a favorite pastime of the teen group.

In the Whirl of the 70's . . .

Gone is Nat Park, but the memory lingers on with the newly-restored carousel. Although there seems to be no central gathering spot today, the completion of the Riverfront Park is expected to provide fun and entertainment for all.

Foosball, pins, and frisbees offer relief from the hassles encountered at school. Disaster movies like "Earthquake" and "The Towering Inferno" headline theater marquees.

Mixers, Time Square, and enjoying the view from Cliff Park are also part of the '70s.

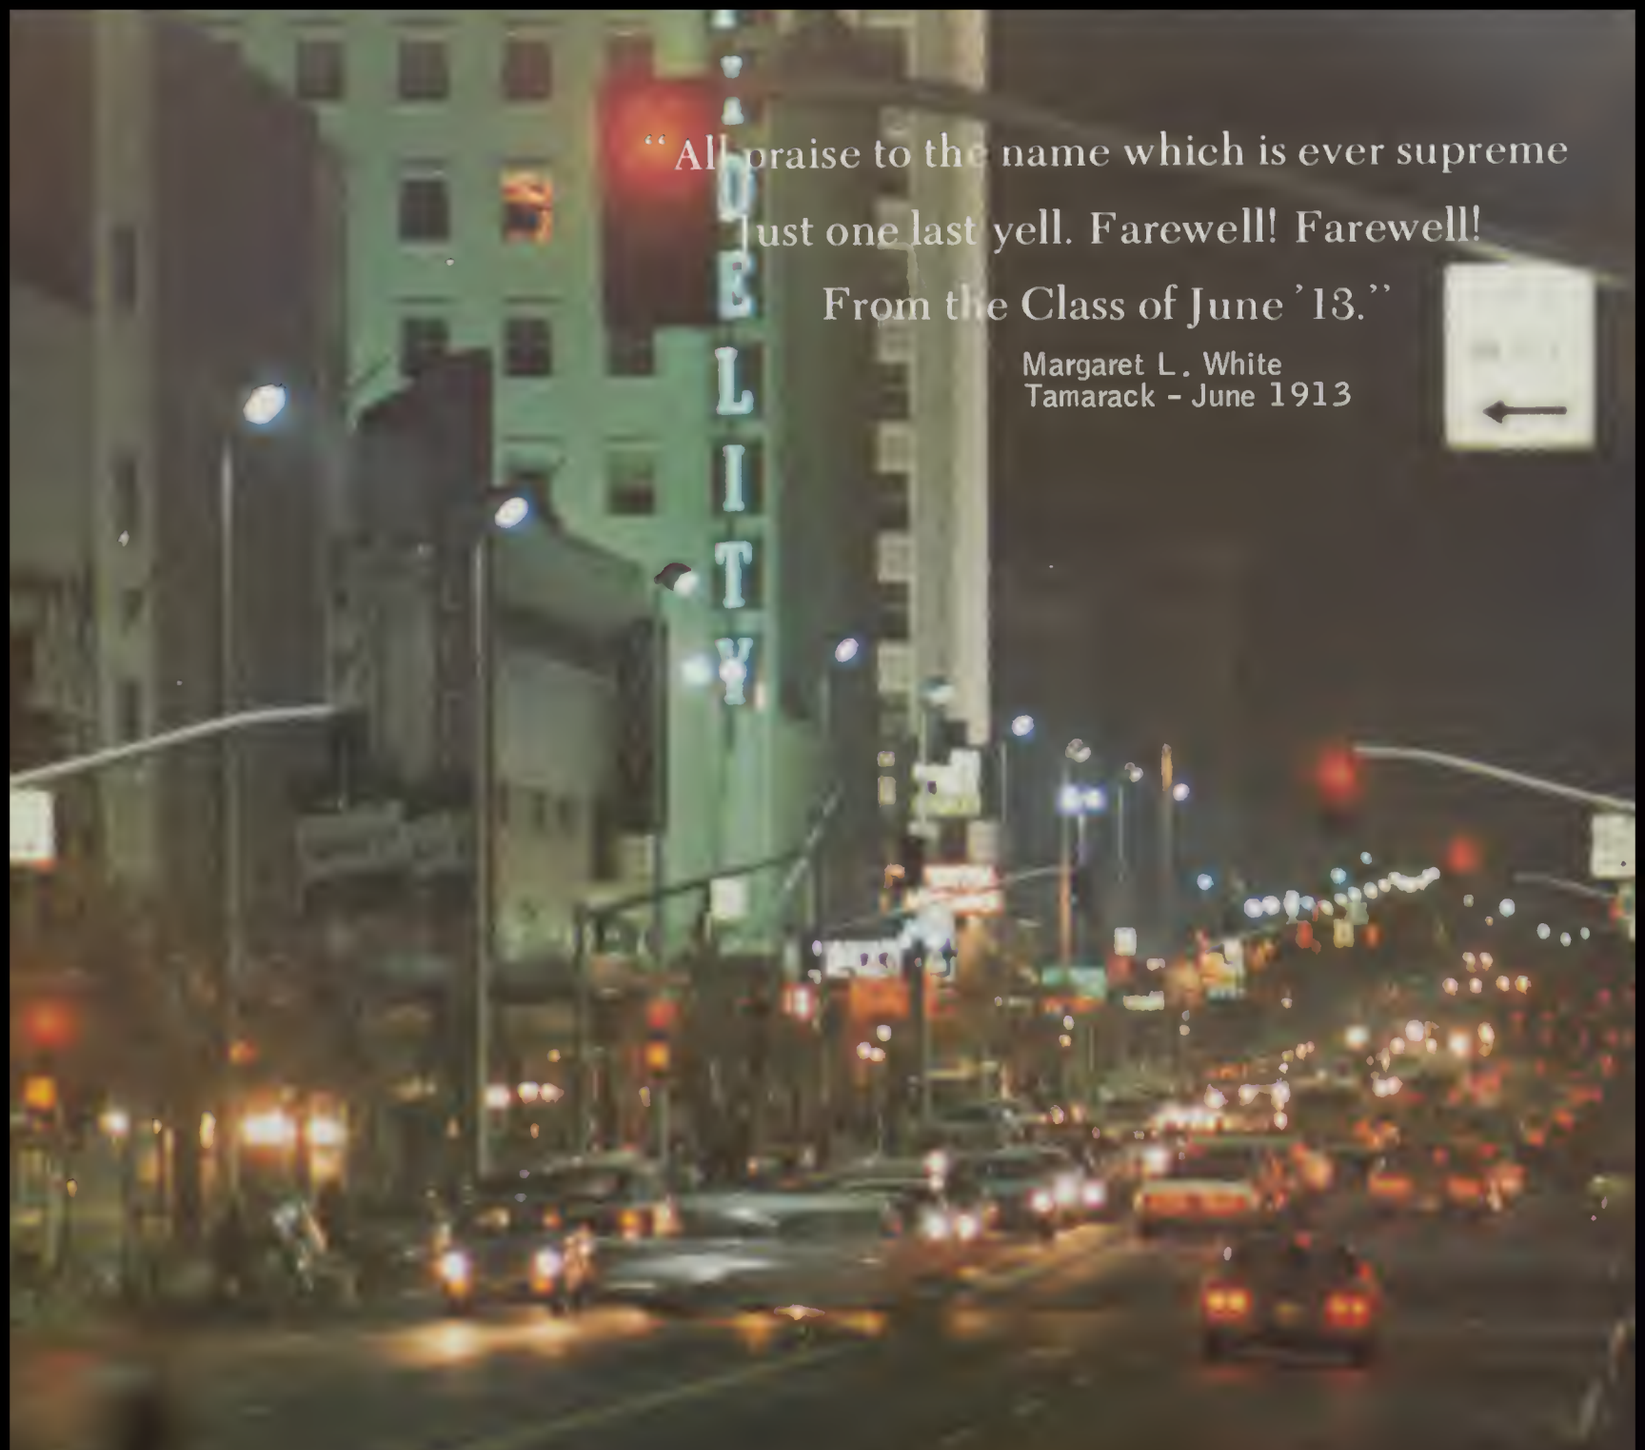
Yesterday. . . a time of formality and elegance. The moods and feelings of the people were mirrored in the architecture. The Davenport, still one of the most beautiful buildings in Spokane, is a superb example of the unhurried attitudes of the early 1900s. Ornate stone sculpture, arched patterns of brick work, gleaming marble floors, and richly carved wood blended to create an air of refinement.

Today. . . a time of informality and simplicity. Soaring glass and steel skyscrapers capture the pulse of the time. Sprawling shopping centers, plastic hamburger palaces, and acres of concrete parking lots accommodate our dependence upon the automobile.

Patterns of life may change, but the basic threads of society never do. We are always progressing yet we revolve around the same universal ideas. Before the football games in the early 1900s, kids used to serpentine dance through the downtown streets, blocking traffic and annoying local businessmen. Today, the serpentine is still a part of the downtown scene. Souped-up machines, wildly-painted vans, and chrome-covered choppers cruise the streets, blocking traffic and annoying local businessmen.

Patterns of Life Swirl Ever Onward



This theme section would not have been possible without the willing help of a lot of people. Thanks go to Mr. Joe Jonas for his superb picture of Gladys Garland who graduated from here in June of 1913.

Many thanks go to Don Anderson and Chuck Caraway, Tamarack photographers, for all the extra time and effort they put into making this section a success.

Eastern Washington State Historical Society and Wirsche Photo Lab also deserve credit. Much of the written work in this section was taken from old Tamaracks.

A great many thanks also go to the following volunteers who gave of their free time to pose for these pictures.

Impressions of North Central

John P. Rodkey, Principal

Who has seen the wind?
Neither I nor you,
But when the leaves hang trembling
The wind is passing through.

Who has seen the wind?
Neither you nor I,
But when the trees bow down their heads
The wind is passing by.
-Christina Rossetti

That poem has always held an awesome, mysterious, beauty to me, because it deals with something that is most intangible, yet very, very real. In many ways that is what North Central means to me. Who can precisely state what North Central really signifies? It is so real and so true to say that it was, and it is opportunity, joy, work, play, success, failure, sorrow, friendships. It is history and tradition; it is the cutting edge of tomorrow.

But whatever else North Central is, it is people caring, sharing, hoping, dreaming, remembering, helping, without reference to age, status, or gender. Yes, North Central was, and North Central is. We are all experiencing it.

North Central to me is one hundred years of fond memories carefully compressed into a twenty-eight year career. They are memories of little people and big people cast in a unique spirit---timeless and forever.

Kenneth McIntyre

North Central has a tremendous following in the city of Spokane. It has pride in each of the old bricks which mortar has held tight all these years.

When you think over the many experiences in life, the high school years spent at North Central had a tremendous impact. NC may be torn down some day, but it will be remembered by each and every student. The spirit of NC is its students, teachers, halls, gyms, pep cons, teams, and in a few short years, graduation.

This is still Indian Country.

Red's Gridmen Take Pride

The Freshmen Football Team concluded the season with 1 win, 4 losses, and 1 tie. Bill Jones was awarded the captain and most inspirational award. "A few of the ball players could help the varsity if they put out a little more dedication and pride," said Coach Joe Schauble.

"The B-Squad win-loss record was 2 and 6, but by the end of the season we were feared by the teams we played because of our hard-hitting," said Coach George Chalich. Bill Jefferson, junior, and Shawn Stueve, sophomore, were elected team captains. Shawn Stueve was also the winner of the inspirational award.

NC finished third in the all-city meet. Fine efforts in that meet came from Greg Gower, Jeff Blackwell, Craig Olinger, Ron Emter, and Mike Brady. Another fine effort came from Bob Allen in the B-Squad all city race. Captains for this year were Greg Gower, Jeff Blackwell, Tom Orth and Ron Emter. Also, "Mr. Inspirational" for this year was Greg Gower and the winner of the Great Race of Equality was Delno McKoy.

This year NC's Cross Country season was dedicated to Steve Martin (Buzz) who was lost this summer at a running camp. Steve was a member of the 100 mile running club.

"In the freshman year," stated Coach Al Hanson, "we stress the fundamentals of the game to the players." The Freshman team ended the season with an 8 and 4 win-loss record.

The B-Squad Basketball team finished off the season with a win-loss record of 14 and 1. When asked to comment about the team, Coach Gene Rostvold said, "What else can you say about a team that did so well except that they are real competitors."

Winning 5 out of the last 7 games, the JV Basketball team "didn't quit and finished with great improvement over the season and a coach can't ask for any more than that from his players," said Coach Mike Greenwood.

Girls' Basketball: A Learning Year

The Girls' Varsity team had a record of 2 wins and 4 losses. Four of the five starters were sophomores.

Mrs. Gayle Sander, coach, remarked that this first year for girls' basketball is a learning year. She also said that the team represented NC with determination, hard work, and pride.

In non-league play, the 15-girl squad faced Gonzaga, Cheney, East Valley, and Central Valley.

"Even though they lost all four, the team gained experience," said Coach Sander.

A team in the sports spotlight is the girls' track team, not because they have done anything special because they haven't YET. They are in the spotlight because they are a new team and are expected to do fairly well as can be seen by the large turn out for its first season.

Coach Joe Schauble expects an eventful season for the varsity track team. Although the sprints may become a weak link the long distance runners will at least hold their own or better. The field events should be led into high standings by Doug Gisselberg in the shot put and the discus and Steve Lawson in the javelin. The team will have a few great individual efforts but as Coach Schauble said, "we don't have much depth as a whole."

Debate Team Captures League Honors

The NC Varsity debate team consists of George Boyce and Pat Ormsby, affirmative, and Bernie McBride and Timm Ormsby, negative.

NC debaters have won individual awards for extemporaneous, impromptu, and senior oratory.

Also involved simultaneously at these tournaments are the oral interpreters. Varsity interpreters are Kathi Hare, Sandy Gross, Shawn DeLong, and Joan LaMunyon. Junior varsity are Cathy Moore, Diane Eschenbacher, and Evelyn Pendleton.

Combined efforts of NC debaters brought NC the Fidelity Rose Sweepstakes trophy at the Gonzaga Tourney.

Timm Ormsby and Bernie McBride were chosen as one of two teams to represent the State of Washington in Williamsburg, VA.

1. Bernie McBride and Sandra Bennett, coach. 2. Back Row: (L to R) Joe Schneider, Bill Bost, Steve Adair, Marco Barbanti, Rob Welton and Gary McCartney. Red Feathers Stir up Spirit

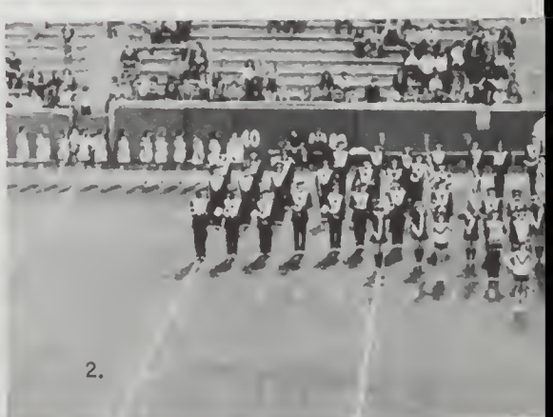
You may have noticed those girls in white dresses with red fringe. They are part of a group of 67 enthusiastic juniors and seniors dedicated to promoting spirit and pride for North Central. From these Red Feathers, varsity cheerleaders and majorettes are picked each spring.

The school year started this fall with the selling of programs at football games; they also cheered and performed at halftimes. Caroling at retirement homes and entertaining at community centers and the con in March were other events.

The spring brought marching in the parade and tryouts for the following year.



1. Fall Red Feather officers are (Clockwise): Rosemary Como, chairman; Cindy Mitchell, historian; Kathi Hare, co-chairman; Kari Firestone, sgt. at arms; Laury Goerz, sgt. at arms; and Pam Gerlack, secretary. Mrs. Gail Sander, advisor, is in the center.
2. The Band and Red Feathers light the field with music and color.
3. Red Feathers cheer our guys through the game.
4. Susie Fiksdal, football chairman, presents Mrs. Lucille Lill, former P.E. teacher, with a plaque at the halftime dedicated to her.
5. Patty Snyder, basketball chairman, performs at halftime.

1. Kimm Cardwell, head majorette, rests after a con.
2. Performing at the con are (L to R) Marelee Bauer, Debbie Yaroshuk, Kimm Cardwell, Sue Eggleston, Jill Coghlan.
3. Katie Garrity, spring sports chairman, talks with the crowd.
4. Terri Hill, spring sports chairman, cheers the team to victory.
5. Sandy Fox, wrestling chairman, stops for a quick drink of orange juice to restore her vocal cords.

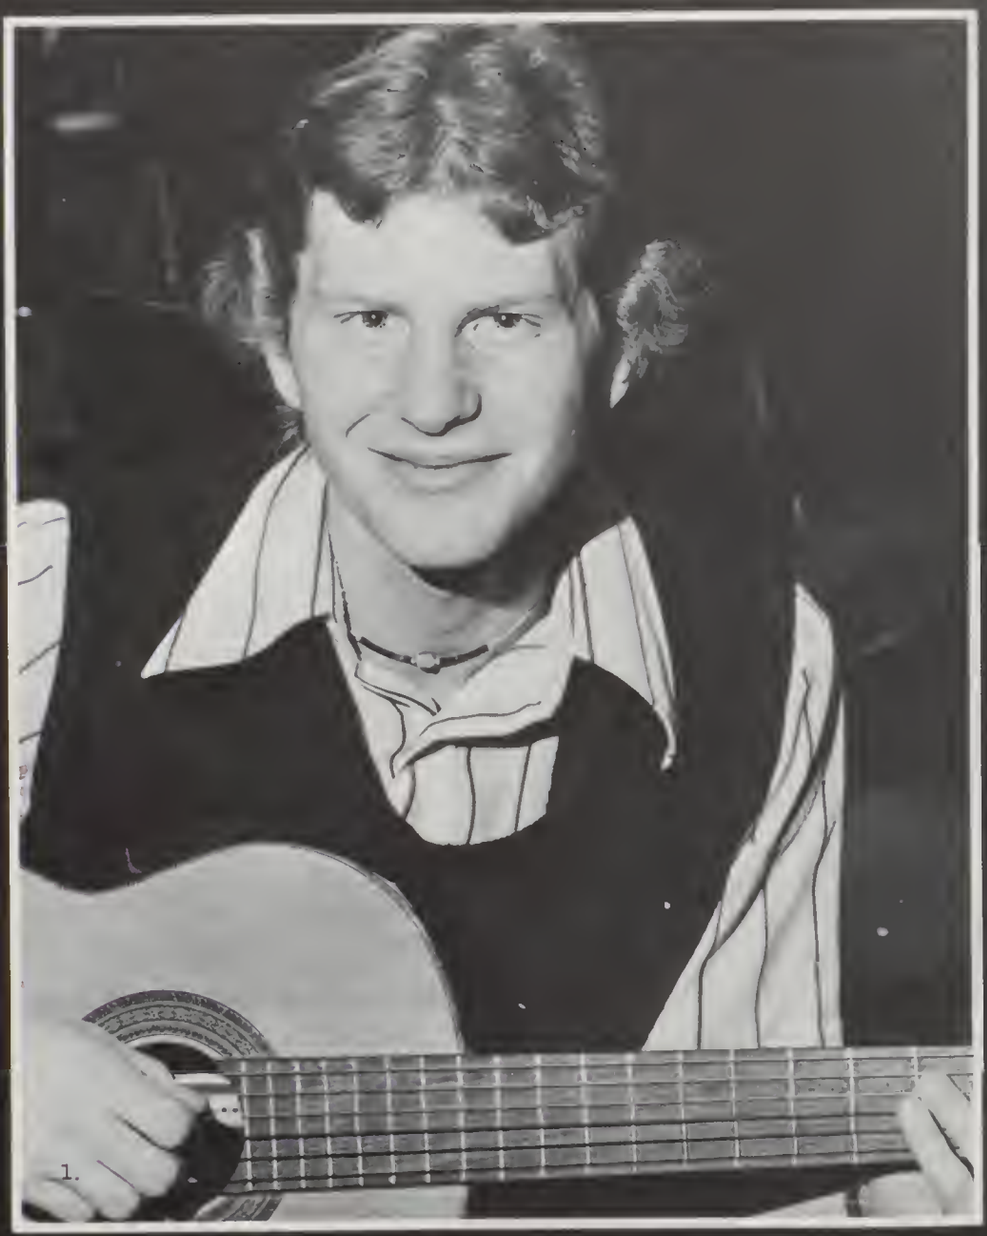
Musicians Make Magic With Sound

From the robust "oomph-pa-pa" of the tuba to the piquant piccolo, a melange of notes drift through the seams of the band portable as the day progresses. Concert Band, Stage Band, Orchestra, and two guitar classes fill the air with music. Mr. John Luppert directs all of these musical groups.

The Bands and Orchestra perform in concert and at community activities. Guitar classes are casual, designed for those students who want to learn the basics of the instrument.



1. Talented guitarist Nick Herman makes many appearances in Spokane musical groups.
2. Karl Hawkins, Left, and Irby McClain, Right, practice in guitar class.
3. Other members of the guitar class include (L to R) Nita Hatch, Kevin Edlin, and Lydia Ortiz

From the Liberty Bell to a large "L" in honor of former girls' physical education instructor, Mrs. Lucille Lill, football fans at Albi enjoyed five different marching band and Red Feather shows. Majorettes, cheerleaders, and flag bearers also added to the colorful halftime scene.

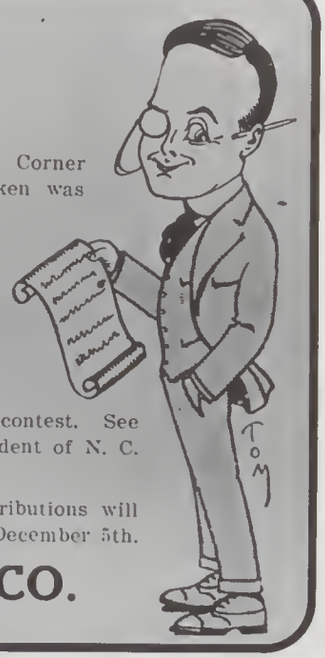
James B. Fisken Gets the First $2

Of the many limericks submitted in the Quality Corner Limerick contest the following by Mr. James B. Fisken was awarded the prize:

The fellow who wears the best clothes
Is surely the fellow who knows
Where for moderate price
You get best merchandise,
So to Quality Corner he goes.



Get busy and send in a limerick in this month's contest. See previous number of "The Tamarack" for rules—any student of N. C. H. S. is eligible.

YOU may win the $2 yourself. First month's contributions will be reconsidered in this month's contest. Send it in by December 5th.

What is the answer...

for our future energy needs?

We are not just concerned with the day-to-day supply of energy, but more important — our future needs. Despite conservation efforts, energy demands continue to grow. The answer is to start new power plants now and keep them on schedule. An essential ingredient is public understanding of the problem and support of the efforts to solve it.

This was NC's first year in MUN, we represented Norway and Guatemala.

Reflecting on the Past . . .

In the course of its 68 years, NC has seen both hardships and prosperous times. Big Red sent many brave men to fight for the American cause in the numerous wars our country has endured. Some of these men were to return, to live on; others laid down their lives so that we might have freedom.

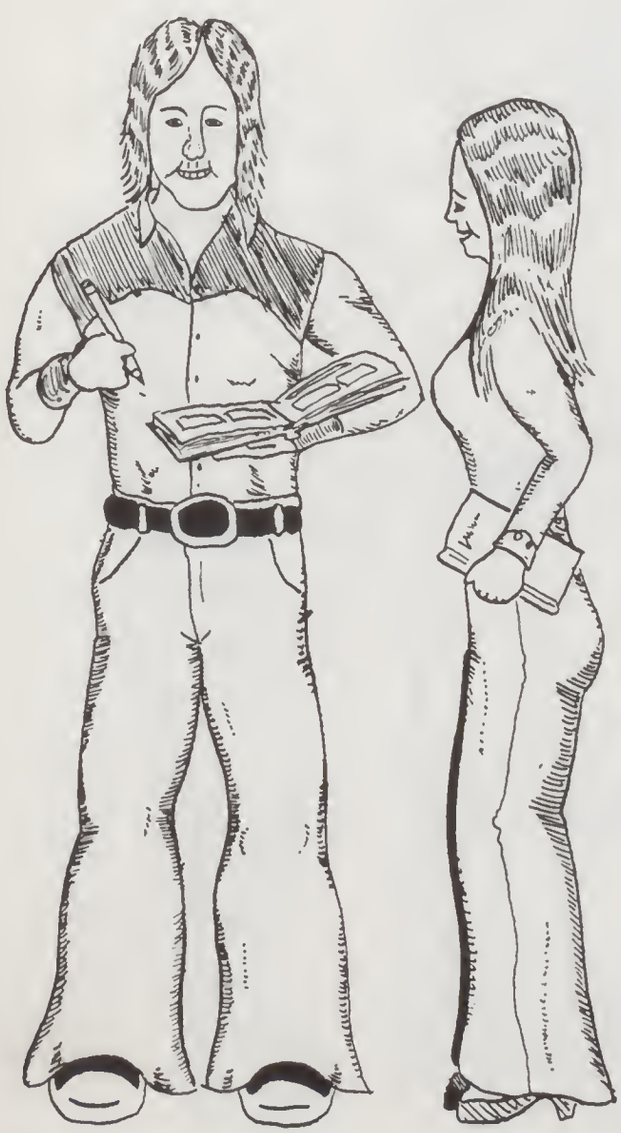
NC saw the onset of prohibition with its speak-easies and boot-legging. It saw the Roaring 20's, an "era of wonderful nonsense," when radio, the Model T and a solo flight across the Atlantic hit the nation with a tremendous impact.

The Indians felt the pressures when the stockmarket crashed; their parents lost jobs and the banks failed. Many students quit school to look for jobs. With the ending of the war, television burst upon the American scene.

NC watched the space age expand, from orbiting the earth to Neil Armstrong's first step on the moon. It has seen four states join the Union. Medical and scientific research, as well as the jet age, pollution, extinction of animals, Watergate, the resignation of President Nixon, the end of the draft and many other important things have worked together to make our lives what they are today.

Trying to Understand Today . . .

This is a time of free love, illegal drugs and an ever-increasing crime rate. The unemployment rate is high, prices are out of sight and the government is too busy with foreign affairs to concern itself with the people here at home. Bombings, kidnappings and murders have become everyday occurrences. Big Red has seen the people of the state legalize abortion and hitch-hiking and reinstate the death penalty.



Good things have happened, too. Computers that can do just about everything are replacing manual labor. The Concord, a supersonic jet, can cross the Atlantic Ocean in $3\frac{1}{2}$ hours, and the microwave oven cuts cooking time to only minutes.

People are getting back to nature; some are growing organic gardens and others are going all out for back-packing, camping and wilderness survival. Snow skiing and snowmobiling have become popular winter sports in the Northwest.

1976 is a time for reflection. During the Bicentennial we are looking back at our country's roots while wondering what the future holds.

We want to thank these people for their efforts in helping to make the '76 Tamarack a success: Staff Advisor-Judy Feryn; Photography Advisor-Joe Jonas; Art Advisor-Barbara Eddy; Artists-Bob Lenius, Doug Buckley; Photographers-Don Anderson, Chuck Caraway, Dennis Wolbert, John Robertson; American Yearbook Rep-Doug Carpenter; Band Photos-John Luppert; Burchetts; Rueco; Eastern Washington State Historical Society.

Wondering About the Future . . .

What will our future bring? The future of the world, according to predictions, includes World War III, California falling into the ocean, the dropping of nuclear bombs, and the second coming of Christ. Living on the moon, driving around in space cars and having outerspacemen visit Earth are also possibilities.

Our own more immediate future might include getting a college education, finding a job, getting married, having kids, getting rich or maybe becoming famous.

The future of North Central is even more uncertain. How many more years will students be able to walk down these proud halls, humming "Red and Black"? NC has survived several "proposed" attempts to close its doors. Though the physical plant will close someday, the spirit and traditions of Big Red will live on in our hearts forever!
